

VETERANS DAY

HONORING THOSE WHO SERVED

Today, we give thanks to our veterans—and the science that keeps soldiers safe. For example, researchers at the University of California, Davis, helped improve protective gear for soldiers, and Washington State University scientists developed technology to improve the shelf life and food safety of ready-to-eat meals for soldiers. Other multistate studies found that nature is beneficial for veterans' mental and physical health.